EVOLUTION HOME THEATRE TO GIVE AWAY PLASMA HDTVS TO LOCAL MILITARY FAMILIES Local small business starts their own charity to "give back" to the military

San Diego, CA – A local high-end Audio/Video company, Evolution Home Theatre, Inc. has long been a supporter of the military as well as its local community. For nearly two years now, they've been installing, free of charge, Audio Video systems in military families homes, through their charity, Technology for the Troops. This year their stepping-up that commitment by selecting three local military families to receive new 50" Plasma Screens & Blu-ray Players!

"For years I've wanted to integrate our business with a local military charity," said Shawn Worst, President of Evolution Home Theatre. "None of the local charities were really set up to work with accepting larger items, or products requiring installation. That's when I decided I was going to start up my own." In 2007, Shawn founded Technology for the Troops, and has since been associated with the San Diego Armed Services YMCA. "A lot of times when we're installing equipment into our customer's homes, we're replacing good working equipment. We now offer our customers the opportunity to donate that equipment, where it will be installed into a deserving military family home."

Partnering with their suppliers, Evolution Home Theatre is trying to help make this Christmas a little more special for three deserving families. Nominations are currently being accepted via the Technology for the Troops section of their website at www.EvoHT.com. This session closes on midnight, December 18th, and is limited to families of the military, ranked E-5 and below, who have served from 2001 to present. All three TVs will be installed on Christmas Eve day by an all-volunteer staff.

"We're proud of the fact that this program has absolutely no overhead costs, and 100% of every donation goes to help those who deserve it most", said Shawn Worst. "Last year we had two 50" plasmas to give away, and we received 498 nominations. I personally read through every nomination, and the hardest part is picking out only a few. I'm looking forward to being able to grow this program even more in the years to come." This is the third giveaway Evolution Home Theatre has sponsored since starting the program in 2007.

Evolution Home Theatre was founded in 2006 by Shawn Worst, and installs Audio/Video & Automation Systems, Custom Home Theatres & Custom Cabinetry throughout San Diego County and the surrounding areas. They are involved in multiple local charities, politics fighting for consumer choice, and they even host the annual Beach Tennis Tournament in San Diego each summer.
